THE COIN CIRCULAR.

OUR REVIEWS.

—Foremost among our numismatic periodicals is the American Journal of Numismatics, the bulletin of the Boston and New York societies. As a thoroughly scientific journal, it has, perhaps, found little favor with our younger numismatists, but with the older and more scientific, it has gained its due popularity. Subscription, $2. a year. Address Jeremiah Colburn, 18 Somerset St., Boston.

—The Canadian Antiquarian and Numismatic Journal like the Boston Journal is popular with the same class of collectors. Although it is not strictly of a numismatic character, we heartily welcome its quarterly visits. Subscription, $1.50, Canadian currency, a year. Address, R. W. McLachlan, Box 86½, Montreal.

—The Coin and Stamp Journal has just completed its first volume, and we hope will not lack the assistance of the collectors, to finish another. In its Philatelic department it has lately been attacking the counterfeit stamp dealers, who certainly need the attention of every stamp journal. Subscription, 50 cents a year. Address, W. E. Winner, Kansas City, Mo.

—The first number of the Coin Collector's Journal is out. This new monthly comes to us warranted for one year. Its moderate subscription price, contents of first number and general make-up, are strong inducements for the collectors to subscribe, and we hope they will favor the new journal. Subscription, $1. a year. Address, J. W. Scott & Co., 75 and 77 Nassau Street, New York.

—The latest effusion of newspaper numismatics is from the Utica Herald, which has the following: Col. "T. L. Thomas, of this city, has in his possession an old Welsh coin of the year 1091. It is the size of an English Half-penny, and has on one side the word, 'Testyn-ap-Gwrgan, Tywysog Morganwg, 1091.' On the other, 'Y Brenhin a'r Gyfraith.' " Perhaps Mr. Thomas is joking the public as it does not mention the fact that a comparatively modern date and the conventional Mrs. Britannia occupy the reverse. The "1091" may signify a good many things—possibly the number of times newspaper editors and the public generally will err in judgment respecting the coin's age. The piece is a Welsh token contemporaneous with the large number of tradesmen tokens issued in the latter part of the last century.
